PROFILE

Dempster Gbenebro, professionally known as Elder Dempster, is a multiple award-winning international gospel artist, singer, songwriter and record producer. His music ministry is rooted in energetic praise, heartfelt worship and a commitment to uplifting audiences through faith-centered music.

BACKGROUND

Elder Dempster began receiving songs in the late 1990s. During his university years in Enugu, Nigeria, he served as lead vocalist with the 82 Division Nigerian Army Band Corps from 1999-2001. His ministry expanded through invitations to evangelistic crusades, Christian conferences and concerts, and he has led praise and worship in churches in Nigeria and abroad.

PERFORMANCE & INFLUENCE

His musical journey has included sharing the stage with gospel artists including Ron Kenoly, Lionel Peterson, Alvin Slaughter, Martha Munizzi, Asu Ekiye and Dr. Panam Percy Paul. His influences span Nigerian and American gospel traditions, contributing to a style built around praise, worship and audience engagement.

EDUCATION & PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

He holds a B.Sc. in Economics from Enugu State University of Science and Technology and a Master's degree in Publishing from the University of Ibadan. Beyond music, he is a videographer and entrepreneur with interests in operations management, human development and business solutions.
